Reasons for Difficulty Swallowing

Difficulty swallowing, or dysphagia, is a common condition seen at our practice and can be exasperated with all the food during the holiday season. This is why we want to bring attention to this condition including the signs and reasons which can cause it.

One of the signs or symptoms of dysphagia is, as soon as you start eating, it comes back up, it comes out of the nose, coughing, or it goes down the windpipe instead of the food pipe and causes shortness of breath.

Causes of Difficulty Swallowing:

- Narrow Food Pipe:
Sometimes when food or liquids get stuck, it is because your food pipe, instead of being a narrow tube, has become even more reduced. Sometimes it gets narrow because of pretty serious things, like esophageal cancer, but most of the time it's because of acid reflux.

- Spasms:
Another reason why people have difficulty swallowing is that the food pipe itself is going into spasms. What causes that spasm? Again, acid reflux. If acid shoots into the food pipe, it irritates it, causing it to move haphazardly. Instead of going down in a smooth motion, it spasms, which causes people to choke once in a while.
- Dysmotility:
Sometimes as we get older, the food pipe naturally gets a little bit weaker and causes dysmotility, where things are not moving as fast as they used to.

- Inflammation or ulcers:
Sometimes the food pipe looks and moves normally, but just within the food pipe, you have inflammation or ulcers forming within the food pipe. And again, a lot of time, due to acid reflux.

This is why it is important for patients to have further tests and evaluations to see what is causing the difficulty to swallow, and confirm it is nothing potentially serious. Learn more in our December blog at the link:

Our Toy Drive is Back, Too!

The holiday season is embodied by generosity and the giving-spirit. Unfortunately, for some in our community, this time of year just highlights what they cannot provide. We want to help bridge that gap with our 2nd Annual Toy Drive.

From December 1st through December 21st, we will be accepting toy donations at each Digestive Health Specialists location. The toys needs to be:

- New
- Un-wrapped
- Preferably around the $10 or more price range
- Books are also needed
- Homemade toys are also accepted

We will not accept toys that are:

- Used
- Look like realistic weapons
- With candy or food
- With chemicals (ex: experimental labs, acid, crystal projects, etc.)

The toys will be for children aged 1-12, and some exceptions for older children's toys.
